

International Learning Corporation Board of Advisors

The Board of Advisors Committee reviews the programs, websites, learning objectives and tutorials to ensure suitability. Our policy is to present relevant information to help teachers and parents assist their children in achieving academic success. The committee consists of the following members:

John Murphy, Ed.D.
President of Education Partners

In addition to serving as President of Education Partners, Dr. Murphy is a prominent and internationally recognized educator with 38 years in the field. He has been described by William Bennett as "one of the heroes of American education." Dr. Murphy has held multiple school superintendencies in both large and small school districts. He was awarded the prestigious Leadership for Learning award and the Scholastic Community Award for Excellence in Education.

John L. Brown, Ph.D.
Former Director of Program Development, Prince George's County Maryland.

Dr. Brown is a nationally recognized authority on curriculum and instructional design. He has worked with school districts throughout the United States and Canada to develop content and performance standards, align curriculum, and implement comprehensive assessment and program evaluation processes. His latest book is the ASCD publication, The Hero's Journey: How Educators Can Transform Schools and Improve Learning.

John I. Wilson
Executive Director, National Education Association

John Wilson, a long-time special education teacher and Association leader, became executive director of the National Education Association on November 1, 2000. NEA is the nation's largest teachers union, representing 2.7 million members, a staff of 565 and an annual budget of over $267 million. NEA also represents education support professionals, higher education faculty, school administrators, retired educators, and education students who plan to become teachers. Before joining the NEA staff, he spent 20 years in the Raleigh and Wake County Public School Systems as a middle school teacher of special needs students.

Sally K. Ride, PhD

President and CEO, Sally Ride Science

A former NASA astronaut and the first American woman in space, is the president and CEO of Sally Ride Science and a professor of physics at the University of California, San Diego (currently on leave). Sally Ride Science is a company that creates innovative out-of-school science programs and supplementary science materials designed to fuel students' fascination with science. Long an advocate for improved science education, Dr. Ride has written five science books for children, and is passionate about encouraging more girls and young women to pursue science. Dr. Ride has received numerous honors and awards, including her induction into the National Women's Hall of Fame and the Astronaut Hall of Fame.

Bill Tudor

President, International Learning Corporation

Bill Tudor, a technology and education entrepreneur has successfully founded four multi-million dollar software companies. Bill received his business degree from the University of Detroit and has received numerous awards, including Inc. Magazine's fastest growing companies and UCSD Connect's most innovative software. Bill's passion for improving academic success is clearly evident in the three current products available from International Learning Corporation (ILC): Parent Tutor - a free website for parents to ensure their student's academic success; The Parent Toolkit - a district wide academic model for parental involvement; and Rapid Resources - a teacher tool for creating individualized learning plans complete with tutorials and activities. Bill also serves on the board of directors for several distinguished software and education companies.